Lees Associates completed the fit out for two floors of Selfridge's exciting new Manchester store - books, technology, Menswear and young women's fashion. The project involved the strip out and refurbishment of an existing building split into two via an atrium space to create a separate tenancy for Selfridges whilst the other tenancy remained occupied by Marks and Spencer.

Each floor has its own distinct identity, menswear a minimal sophisticated industrial look while the young fashion floor is a cheeky fun vibrant "market" place.

Together, both floors total over 4000 square metres of retail space.
